1. Now WWF's ecotourism project in Ca Mau National Park is offering new livelihood opportunities for the local community.
2. Local people become ecotourism hosts, which brings them so much joy and benefits.
3. Visitors come and see the End Point Tower, which marks the southernmost tip of Vietnam.
4. WWF helps the community build a bird watching tower and provides binoculars and bird watching books.
5. Bird watching is now a major attraction, and many guests stay overnight just to observe the birds at dawn and dusk, when they return to their resting spots.
6. The park staff offer eco-trails to show the biodiversity of the areas.

Ex 2:

1. Gao Giong Ecotourist Park, established in the 1980s, is located about 20 kilometers from Cao Lanh Town in southern Dong Thap Province.
2. Upon arriving, visitors are invited to enter a traditional thatched house which can receive up to 100 people.
3. Gao Giong Ecotourist Park offers visitors the chance to relax in hammocks under the shade of cajuput trees or to catch fish from nearby canals.
4. Tourists can also take a quiet stroll through forest or climb a watchtower for spectacular panoramic view of the area.
5. Tourists can try rowing boat themselves and can take many beautiful photos.

Ex 3:

1. Vam Ho Bird Garden in Ba Tri, Ben Tre is a habitat for nearly 500,000 night herons.
2. The bird sanctuary has a lot of wild plants, trees and protective dykes to safeguard the birds.
3. The songs of birds, the whispering of plants, the scent of flowers and the flocks of flying birds make the scene more attractive.
4. At sunset, visitors climb high in the tree to view all kinds of birds.
5. Visitors will feel as if they were living in a world of sounds, sights and colors.
